This program offers students a unique zoo experience in which they get an opportunity to learn and practise scientific skills of observing animal behaviour, designing and implementing enrichment devices that will help encourage natural behaviours in captive animals.

Project Site:

Zoo Negara, Kuala Lumpur

Just a 20-minute drive from Kuala Lumpur, the capital city of Malaysia, the National Zoo is almost 50 years old and sits on 110 acres of land boasting over 5,100 animals of 459 species of mammals, birds, reptiles, amphibians and fish.

Zoo Negara Malaysia is managed by the Malaysian Zoological Society, a non-governmental organization established to create the first local zoo for Malaysians.

Zoo Negara has successfully bred milky storks, false gharials, pheasants and giraffes.

Programme:

2 days, 0830 hours – 1700 hours

DAY 1

Get going with an early morning tour of the National Zoo, familiarising yourself with the various animals and focusing on endangered Malaysian species. Discover your personal role in helping these animals avoid extinction. Then, train to be a mini zoo assistant and learn what goes on behind the scenes of a zoo as you immerse yourself in an exciting day of fun activities within the zoo, culminating in learning how to observe animals using scientific methods employed by zoologists.

DAY 2

The second day will start with the stimulation of your creative juices by designing toys to enrich the lives of the animals, then observing how they react to it using the same scientific methods taught the previous day. Then as a member of the zoo community, you will be involved in a social survey before ending your day with an insight into the conservation efforts of the zoo.
